

Vancouver

STAY

FOOD AND DRINK

DIVERSIONS

STAY

The Seaside Hotel in North Vancouver.

LEVI GROENEVELD VRX STUDIOS/HANDOUT

Be a tourist in your own city with this Canadian summer staycation guide

Need a break from the routine? Get into vacation mode in your own city at these hotels, restaurants and diversions

MARYAM SIDDIQI, JULIE VAN ROSENDAAL, AMANDA ROSS, CAITLIN STALL PAQUET, WAHEEDA HARRIS AND DAN CLAPSON

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE AND MAIL

PUBLISHED JULY 31, 2020

11 COMMENTS

SHARE

International travel plans might be on hold because of COVID-19, but there's still your own backyard to explore via this staycation guide to cities across the country. Pick your destination:

VANCOUVER

CALGARY

SASKATOON

TORONTO

OTTAWA

MONTREAL

STAY

The Seaside Hotel in North Vancouver.

LEVI GROENEVELD VRX STUDIOS/HANDOUT

From downtown Vancouver, take a short 12-minute SeaBus ride over to LoLo, or Lower Lonsdale, North Vancouver's newly gentrified waterfront. Its Shipyards District, a reimagining of a century-old working dock, includes independent shops and galleries as well as the new boutique Seaside Hotel. Its 71 modern rooms are kitted out with floating-style beds and floor-to-ceiling windows that offer views toward Burrard Inlet and downtown Vancouver. The hotel's restaurant, Seaside Provisions, offers a dock-to-dine coastal-inspired experience. Arrive by kayak or on foot for Buck-a-Shuck happy hour featuring B.C. oysters such as Evening Cove and Royal Miyagi every Wednesday through Sunday 3-6 p.m. British Columbia residents also enjoy a 20-per-cent discount with the promo code LOCAL. 130-125 Victory Ship Way, seasidehotelvancouver.com